

Johann Sebastian Bach Cello Suite No. 1 in G Major BWV 1007

The Johann Sebastian Bach Cello Suite No. 1 in G Major BWV 1007 is a collection of six unaccompanied cello suites composed by Johann Sebastian Bach. The suites are considered to be some of the most important and challenging pieces for the cello, and they have been recorded and performed by countless cellists over the years.

The suites were likely composed between 1717 and 1723, during Bach's time as Kapellmeister in Cöthen. They are dedicated to Christian Ferdinand Abel, a gambist and composer who was a close friend of Bach's. The suites are written in a variety of styles, and they explore a wide range of technical and musical challenges.
